

Introducing the 1st Bilingual Children's Book Series about Military Women— Award-Winning Book Stars Latino Child and his Aviator Mamá

"The kids designed their own patches [using template in the back of the book.] It was a meaningful activity after getting to touch your patches on your uniform. Their designs are hanging up and I took some photos. I noticed one child drew a plane being refueled and several girls wrote 'Captain (their name)' on their patch design! It is wonderful that the girls are also seeing this as a possibility for themselves as well!"

Ginny Winblad, kindergarten teacher, Castro Valley Elementary, CA

"As a member of the United States Air Force, Mrs. Sato was able to open the door to an American airman's life. Students had an opportunity to see how service members serve our country in many different ways. Additionally, Mrs. Sato's book helped students see that soldiers are also mothers, fathers, sons, and daughters. It was an eye-opening experience for our students." Candice Cheung, Second Grade Teacher, Jensen Ranch School, CA

"Good Night Captain Mama is a tribute to women, including Latinas, in the military and their families. What a powerful and positive image for children to experience - and one sorely lacking in the media! This is a significant book for empowering all children, who benefit from seeing diversity in all areas of life. This book would be a great read for children learning about the military, Veterans Day, the Air Force, family relationships, working parents, and more. This book is best suited for children ages 4 and older." Monica Olivera, Latin Baby Book Club, Latinas 4 Latino Literature
